PROFILE

Graduate Design Management student with experience in architecture and interior design. Diverse mind-set and proven problem solving skills and keen on taking new challenges. Looking for a Graduate Design Manager's role in an interactive work setting that allows expression of ideas and a positive work environment that utilises interpersonal skills.

EDUCATION & QUALIFICATIONS

Lancaster University – MA in Design Management

Sept 2023 – Ongoing (2024 Graduate)

As a Design Management graduate, I offer a mix of creative design and strategic project management skills. My education has enabled me with an extensive understanding of design principles, project planning and effective team coordination. With transferrable skills in communication and collaboration, I am well-prepared to contribute to dynamic professional environments, ensuring successful outcomes in design-oriented projects.

University School of Architecture and Planning, GGSIPU - B.Arch.

Aug 2017 – June 2022

As an Architecture undergraduate, I have developed a skill set that amalgamates creative design with a strong foundation in architectural principles. My coursework and practical experiences have allowed me to develop expertise in conceptualising and implementing architectural designs while collaborating seamlessly with interdisciplinary teams. Proficient in project planning and resource management, I bring a comprehensive understanding of the architectural process. With effective communication and collaboration skills, I look forward in contributing to dynamic design studios and working on delivering successful design projects.

INTERESTS

Besides my professional role as a Designer, I have a strong passion for travel, which has developed an openness to diverse experiences and connections. This characteristic often encourages others to make meaningful interactions with me both in and outside of the workplace, as I am perceived as approachable. Furthermore, I also find joy in the art of cooking, where the attention to detail is highly important. I believe that sharing meals can bridge the cultural divides and create genuine connections.
